Our students have been, without a doubt, wholeheartedly involved in the goings on around the community over the last few weeks. We had a brilliant turn out of students who solemnly and respectfully marched and stood to acknowledge the Anzac Day service. Our school leaders laid a wreath to pay our sincere respects.

Our ranks were just as great for the traditional May Day Float and we made our way through the street parade decked out in our theme for this year, Olympics 2012. The students were loud and proud and enjoyed themselves immensely, as did I with my whistle on the back of the truck. We thank all parents and helpers who transformed the truck from bare to beautiful and donated their time on the day in the tuckshop.

This week we have been heads down in NAPLAN testing and we appreciate all students’ efforts in striving to do their best.

Lauren McGeorge
Principal

Scottville State School

With sincere gratitude and respect, we of Scottville State School commemorate the fallen and returned service men and women who have fought for us and this country.

‘LEST WE FORGET’